Diagram illustrating the stroke order for writing the character 門 (Door). The character is formed by two main strokes: a vertical line on the left and a vertical line on the right, connected at the top and bottom. The diagram shows the sequence of strokes with numbered arrows: 1. A vertical line on the left, starting from the top and going down. 2. A vertical line on the right, starting from the top and going down. 3. A horizontal line at the top, connecting the two vertical lines. 4. A horizontal line at the bottom, connecting the two vertical lines.
